

AFA Teens Scholarship Application Due February 15th

The deadline for AFA's Teens for Alzheimer's Awareness College Scholarship--a $5,000 scholarship, awarded to one deserving college-bound student each year--is fast approaching: applications must be postmarked by February 15, 2009. The scholarship provides an opportunity for college-bound students to give thoughtful consideration to the impact Alzheimer's disease has had on their own lives and others in their family and community. Only complete applications will be considered. For scholarship details and an application, visit www.afateens.org or contact info@afateens.org.

Teens Making a Difference

AFA is inviting teens to take part in an exciting opportunity at AFA Teens. AFA is currently in the process of forming an AFA Teens Advisory Board, which will be made up of teen activists with a passion for the cause and strong interest in advising AFA on important matters related to AFA and its teens division. The board is an opportunity for teens to build strong leadership skills and experience, lend their opinions and expertise to AFA on the future direction of AFA Teens--and give back even more to the Alzheimer's community. If this sounds like an opportunity that you might be interested in, please write to info@afateens.org and ask for an AFA Teens Advisory Board application. Please note that all applications must be received no later than March 1, 2009. Once received, the executive team of the Alzheimer's Foundation of America will review your application and provide a decision within a few weeks. Also, please be sure to indicate how much time you will be able to dedicate, and whether you have your permission to include your name and chapter on the future advisory board section of our Web site should you be selected.

Our Mission

AFA Teens educates and engages teenagers--both those with family members affected by the disease and those purely interested in the cause--and raises awareness of Alzheimer's disease among the younger generation and the general public.
